

PHILANTHROPY

By Kim Haman

All for Teens

► Wayne Pinnell, Boys & Girls Club of Santa Ana board member, managing partner, Haskell & White LLP; Boys & Girls Club of Santa Ana finance director Sanam Parvizi; Shannon Tucker, president, board of directors, Boys & Girls Club of Santa Ana, partner, Terrace Hill Olive Oil Co.; Richard Porras, regional vice president, AT&T, Boys & Girls Club board member, at grand opening of club teen center

The Boys & Girls Club of Santa Ana held a grand opening and ribbon cutting on Sept. 11 for its Garage Teen Center and the renovation of the newly named Joe MacPherson Center for Opportunity.

The 3,500-square-foot teen center is designed to help club teens on a path to graduating high school on time, with a plan for their future, while discovering their passions and teaching them life skills through the Live Mas Lounge made possible by Taco Bell, the Dave and Judy Threshie Teen Tech Center, and the Teen Production Studio, a room within the center.

The club's existing Main Club, designed to serve as a forum for expanded programs and services, was fully renovated and christened the Joe MacPherson Center for Opportunity in honor of late local entrepreneur Joe MacPherson, a longtime philanthropist and owner of the Team MacPherson car dealerships.

Slip Into Success

► Cheryl Osborn, president, founder, Casco Contractors Inc., member, Girls Inc. of Orange County board of directors; her husband, Jeff